ALLIES TIGHTEN GRIP ON ROYE

3 MILLION UNDER ARMS; 1,450,000 IN FRANCE

TODAY'S SITUATION

(By the Associated Press)

Roye, the central bastion of the German defense line from Peronne to Noyon, which has withstood allied thrusts for nearly a week, is menaced seriously by advancing French, British and Canadian troops and its fall would appear to be a probability of the next few hours.

With the town in allied hands, the southern end of the German line at least, undoubtedly would have to retire, although the norther. end through Chaulnes and Peronne also would be affected. The allies are now but a scant one and one-quarter miles west of the town, while they are pressing eastward in the north and in the south.

Along a front of nearly nine miles north and south of the Avre, which flows through Roye, the allies have pushed back the enemy in stubborn fighting. The most notable advance was made on a front of three miles in the center by French and Canadian troops who now are fighting on a line through Goyencourt, St. Mard-Les-Trio and Laucourt. St. Mard is west of Roye and there are no villages in the intervening mile and a quarter.

French troops on the south have forced their way almost through the Loges wood, which borders the Roye-Lassigny road to the west. The wood is five miles directly south of Roye and it would appear that a further advance might enable the French to outflank both Roye and Lassigny and force the Germans to readjust their lines eastward toward Noyon and probably beyond. North of Goyencourt British forces, after having repulsed an enemy attack on Damery in which 250 prisoners were captured, are pushing eastward with French units toward Fransart and Fresnoy-Les-Roye.

Artillery activity continues on the remaining sectors of the main battlefront between the Ancre and the Oise. The British on the northern end and the French on the southern maintain their newly gained positions and the enemy has shown no disposition to attack.

Berlin reports officially that allied attacks on both sides of the Avre on Friday failed. The German office has nothing further to say of the withdrawals in the Lys salient and along the Ancre. Admission of the loss of the Attiche farm, southwest of Noyon, to the French is made, but it is said that six French attacks against Lassigny on Thursday were repulsed.

American and French troops along the Vesle have undergone an attack in which the Germans used gas, artillery and bombing aviators. This attack followed an incursion by American aviators who heavily bombed German bridges over the Aisne and discovered enemy artillery and machine gun nests. Three German airplanes were brought down by American airmen Thursday. British and French airmen on the same day put 32 enemy machines out of action, while Berlin reports the destruction of 24 allied airplanes.

Italian troops in the Tonale region, northwest of Garda and along the southern Piave have withstood Austrian attacks against their new positions on these sectors.

Spain is reported to have notified Berlin that hereafter the Spanish government will make up losses sustained through U-boats by seizing German shipping in Spanish harbors. Ninety German vessels have found refuge in Spanish territorial waters.

GEN. MARCH IN WEEKLY TROOP DATA

Calls Attention That Germans Have Withdrawn in Four Places

30 DIVISIONS PLAN

Pays Tribute to Valor of American Forces; Location of Troops

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Gen. March at his conference today with the senate military committee told the senators that the American army now under arms numbers slightly more than 3,000,000 men, with 1,450,000 men in France or on the way and approximately 1,550,000 in cantonments at home.

Gen. March said official reports through the Spanish embassy give no evidence that American prisoners in Germany are signalled out for mistreatment as has been reported. Very detailed reports including daily menus are received and show that the question of the treatment of prisoners has largely become standardized.

The chief of staff drew attention to the fact that the Germans have now voluntarily surrendered portions of their lines at four different places. He placed no construction of his own on this, but it was taken as an indication of an expected further withdrawal by the enemy. In a general way the lines generally are stabilized on a front closely following 1916-17 positions in Picardy and along the Aisne-Vesle line to the south.

Gen. March said it is proposed to put eighty divisions into France by July 30, 1919, if it is possible to do so.

Gen. March announced that Majos Gen. Henry B. McCain, adjutant general, as a reward for efficient work in that office, has been assigned to command the twelfth division, now being organized at Camp Devins, Mass. Brig. Gen. Peter C. Harris will be made acting adjutant general.

SEN. GALLINGER, REPUBLICAN LEADER, DEAD

Was Oldest Member of Senate in Years and Service

(By the Associated Press)

FRANKLIN, N. H.—United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, died at a hospital here early today.

When Senator Gallinger returned from Washington to his summer home at Salisbury Heights, near here, in July he was in poor health. Death was attributed to arteriosclerosis.

Senator Jacob Harold Gallinger, of New Hampshire, was the oldest member of the United States senate, both in years and in point of service. Ever since 1891 he had been a conspicuous figure in the senate, taking not only a leading part in its discussion, but ranking as a dominating figure in its leadership and in the counsels of the republican party. As a minority leader the senator had been active until quite recently despite his advancing years.

Born on a farm at Cornwall, Ontario, 81 years ago, he crossed the border to the United States early in life. He was a printer first, then studied medicine and practiced as a physician and surgeon for 23 years. In 1872 he entered the New Hampshire house of representatives, beginning political activities that continued to the end of his life.

Gallinger made the seconding speech for Benjamin Harrison for president in the national republican convention of 1888 and frequently was a New Hampshire delegate to the national conventions. A military title he bore in the early days when he was surgeon general of the New Hampshire national guard—brigadier general—was forgotten during his Washington career, where he was proud of the title of "Doctor." He served in the house in the 49th and 50th congresses.

During his continuous service of 27 years in the senate he had been active on the committees dealing with finance, appropriations, rules and government of the District of Columbia.

The funeral will be held from the First Baptist church at Concord on Wednesday afternoon. The body was removed to Concord today.

Senator Gallinger is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Norton of Winchester, Mass.

To Elect Two Senators

CONCORD, N. H.—The death of Senator Jacob H. Gallinger will necessitate the election of two United States senators from New Hampshire in November.

The term of Henry F. Hollis, democrat, the junior senator, will expire next March, and a primary will be held September 30 to determine the republican and democratic nominees. Governor Keeys will appoint a senator to fill Senator Gallinger's seat until the election of a successor for the remainder of his term which expires in March, 1921.

Senator Hollis some time ago announced that he would not seek reelection.

PROFITEER FIGURES RUN UP TO 3,000%

SHOE MEN THRIVE

Oil Producers Make Enormous Profits; Meat Men Get Big Returns

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—War profiteers in 1917 were most numerous in business devoted to food production and distribution, cotton and woolen manufacturing and dealing, coal mining, iron, copper, aluminum and other metal production and oil production and distribution, according to a treasury analysis of income tax returns.

In addition thousands of small concerns in a great variety of industrial and commercial classifications made profits ranging from one hundred to three thousand per cent above their normal profits for prewar years, which even then were considered high.

Is Given Congress

Detailed information on the extent of war profiteering has been given congress recently in compliance with a resolution requesting it and the federal trade commission is understood to have obtained considerable information from the income reports in preparation of its criticism of the meat packing industry.

In citing certain industry or commerce classifications as containing the largest percentage of profiteers, the treasury department has made it clear that not all individual businesses in these groups have gathered in swollen earnings. This is true particularly of coal operators, some of whom made enormous profits, often several hundred per cent higher than good earnings of former years, while others made barely enough to pay justified dividends.

With few exceptions, manufacturers of clothing and shoes reported big profits. This was true of most concerns holding government contracts. Scores of income reports from suit, shirt, underclothing and shoe manufacturers showed earnings of from 30 to 100 per cent in invested capital.

Lumber production, stimulated by the sudden enormous demand for cantonments and other government operations, netted forest and saw mill owners as well as distributers profits several times above those of normal years.

Oil producers made enormous profits which they claimed were justified by the rapid depreciation of properties and the extra financial hazard of their business.

Despite high cost of labor and other factors entering into mining the treasury analysis shows that very few iron, copper or aluminum mines failed to make tremendous profits for their owners under the government policy of stimulating production. Producers of silver, gold, platinum and other precious metals profited to a lesser extent.

Auto Business Thrives

Automobile and motor truck manufacturing was highly profitable, although income returns show that earnings of different plants were far from uniform, some making as high as fifty per cent on investments and others less than ten per cent.

Meat packers, flour millers and canners apparently stood at the top of the list of food profit takers, according to income returns. Farmers also made money heavily last year but not enough of their returns have been analyzed to justify a general statement of their profits, officials say.

Profiteering was by no means confined to big business interests, small scale producers in thousands of cases made profits equal to the aggregate of from five to ten years' earnings before the United States entered the war.

AMSTERDAM—Out of 1,000 officers arrested at Moscow and Petrograd because of counter revolutionary tendencies, 236 have been summarily shot, according to Moscow advices to the Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin.

JACKMAN IN STATEMENT ON BYRON NELSON

Attorney Gives Facts in Reply to Charge of J. G. Monahan

The following letter has been received from Attorney Ralph W. Jackman:

To the Editor of The Capital Times:

I am inclosing herewith a letter which I wish you would kindly publish in your paper. I am sending this letter to you solely by reason of the fact that I do not feel that the charge that has been made to the effect that Byron Nelson "skedaddled for Canada" is warranted. I have no quarrel with Mr. Monahan, and am not taking any part in any political fight, but I do believe that Byron Nelson and the other young men are entitled to fair treatment.

R. W. Jackman.

Mr. Jackman's statement follows:

To the Editor of The Capital Times:

My attention has just been called to a statement published through the press, purporting to come from the Hon. James Monahan, to the effect that Byron Nelson "skedaddled for Canada."

In view of the fact that Byron Nelson is now in France as a non-commissioned officer in the United States army in a company which contains a considerable number of Madison boys, and in view of the fact that the papers containing this statement are being sent to these boys in France and may lead to a wrong impression as to what the facts actually are, I should appreciate it is you would publish in your paper the following statement of facts:

Byron Nelson did not skedaddle for Canada and he ought not to be charged, even in the heat of a political campaign, with doing anything of the kind. I was the attorney for Byron Nelson in the suits in the United States court and the facts as hereinafter stated are the actual facts, which I was prepared to establish at the time of the trial beyond the shadow of a doubt by the testimony of disinterested witnesses.

Byron Nelson went to Canada on the 1st of May, 1917. He went to Canada in pursuance of an agreement and arrangement which had

BOOZE PICNICS HIT BY HAVEN

Attorney General Holds They Fall Within Provisions of Law

That private picnics at which the dispensation of liquor seems to be the only object of the gathering are contrary to law, is the opinion of Attorney General Spencer Haven to J. P. Janseky, district attorney of Green County today. The attorney general says that in a park in Green county picnics are held and persons attending are charged one dollar admission to cover the expense of the liquor. Mr. Haven holds that this is contrary to the statute.

POOLE TO STAY IN MOSCOW TO AID CONSULARS

Consul General Secures Release of Citizens Held as Hostages

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—American Consul General Poole at Moscow, who recently burned his code book and turned the consulate over to the Swedish consul, notified the state department in a cablegram received today that he intended to remain in Moscow to assist the British and French consular officers there who are in great personal danger.

The consul general reported that with the aid of the Swedist representative he had succeeded in securing the release of several hundred entente citizens, chiefly British and French, who were arrested by the Bolshevik and held as hostages for Soviat members imprisoned in the north.

Irkutsk Captured

WASHINGTON—Capture of Irkutsk, the important Lake Baikal port of the trans-Siberian railroad, by the Czecho-Slovaks aided by the Siberian people's army on July 7 is announced in a belated dispatch from American Consul Harris at Irkutsk dated July 22 and received today at the state department.

The consul reported through the American charge d'affaires at Peking. He had not been heard from for many weeks.

The railway to Samara is open, according to Consul Harris, from Irkutsk but trains are not running through to Moscow.

The advices also report the establishment of the new Siberian government with headquarters at Omsk, where the people and the government have repudiated the Brest-Litovsy treaty and declared their determination to fight the Germans.

All Americans in the western Siberian section are reported safe.

Kazan Captured

AMSTERDAM—Kazan, an important city in the Volga region, has been surrounded and is being bombarded by Soviet troops, according to a telegram from Moscow received by way of Berlin. The telegram states that a number of English and French have been placed under arrest at Vologda. Civilians between the ages of 18 and 40 are being mobilized by the Soviets for the construction of trenches.

Bolshevik troops, advancing toward Onega Bay have occupied Kirilov, in the government of Novforod, east of Petrograd. It is reported that violent fighting is proceeding on the southern front in the direction of Tcherkask for the possession of the Don railway bridge.

Sieze Kronstadt?

PARIS — Reports are in circulation in Finland that the Germans have seized the Russian naval port of Kronstadt, according to a Stockholm dispatch to La Matin.

Kronstadt is 20 miles west of Petrograd at the eastern extremity of the Gulf of Finland. It was the principal fortress of Russia. Reports received through Germany early in the week were to the effect that Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotzky had fled to Kronstadt from Moscow. It was added that other departments of the Soviet government also would go there.

BUTCHERS STRIKE IN 8 MARKETS

Two Employers Refuse to Sign Union Agreement

17 EMPLOYES OUT

Contract Calls for Higher Wages and Shorter Hours

About 17 members of the Madison Meat-Cutters and Butchers' union No. 248 went out on strike this morning after voting to do so at a meeting held in Labor hall Friday night. The strike affects eight markets.

Hartmeyer and Braun, Buehler Bros., two Cudahys, East Madison Market, Madison Packing company, Metzinger's, U. W. Market, Jordan's, Esser's and the Madison Packing company's branch are the markets from which the men have walked out.

The agreement which the employes presented to the employers for signature asks for a 10-hour day from 7 to 6 o'clock on weekdays and from 7 to 9 on Saturdays; $25 to $30 a week for meat cutters; $35 a week for first class sausage makers; and $18 to $20 a week for delivery boys. These wages shall be paid whether holidays occur during the week or not, the employes demand.

Two important clauses are inserted in the agreement which has already been signed by 6 employers. They are: 1. "No employe shall be discharged without good and sufficient reason." 2. All grievances shall be referred to an arbitration board composed of one representative of the union and one employer who, if they disagree, shall call in a third disinterested party who shall decide the case.

PHILIPP TO APPOINT IN BECKER'S JOB

J. L. Sherron and J. D. Dunwiddie Are After the Office

Gov. E. L. Philipp will probably appoint a successor to County Judge J. M. Becker of Green county next week. In a legal opinion to the governor Attorney General Spencer Haven has held that the office of the county judge of Green county was vacated upon the conviction of Judge Becker. The two leading candidates for the position are J. L. Sherron and J. D. Dunwiddie, both of Monroe.

"There is no question," said Attorney General Haven in his opinion "but that the offense of which the officer in question has been convicted is an infamous crime within the meaning of this language, and there is no question but that, after sentence has been pronounced, the conviction is complete, so that it seems clear that the matter comes within the provisions of this statute."

FRENCH TAKE PLATEAU AT AUTRECHES

Gain Command of Region South of Oise River

REPULSE TWO COUNTERS

Push Ahead in Picardy at Apex of Lys Salient

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE—French troops this morning carried out a local attack in the region of Autreches, about ten miles northwest of Soissons, and captured the plateau north of Autreches village. This gives them command of the region extending nordward, south of the Oise river.

Local actions elsewhere resulted in the further tightening of the grip of the allies upon approaches to Roye, to the west, the north and the south. The Germans are intensifying their artillery fire in that region, with no other effect than to slow up the allied advance.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—In the region south of Roye French troops have made further progress in the Loges wood and have reached the outskirts of the wood on the east, says the official statement from the war office today.

There was heavy artillery fighting west of Roye during the night. Northwest of Ribecourt the French have repulsed two strong German attacks.

The enemy efforts were directed against the Menolithe and Carnoy farms. A German raid northwest of Rheims failed. The statement reads:

"In the region west of Roye there was heavy artillery activity during the night.

"South of the Avre French troops continued to make progress in the Bois des Loges and reached the eastern outskirts of the wood.

"Between the Matz and the Oise we repulsed two heavy attacks against Menolithe and Carnoy farms and maintained our positions.

"Northwest of Rheims an enemy raid near La Neuvillette was without results."

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON — In Picardy British troops have made additional progress, says Field Marshal Haig's official statement today. The British lines have been pushed eastward north of the Amiens-Roye road and north of the Ancre.

British troops have also gained further ground in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin, at the apex of the Lys salient, the statement says.

The text of the statement reads:

"The pressure of our troops north of the Roye road and north of the Ancre continued and progress has been made by us in both sectors.

"In the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin our patrols had sharp fighting yesterday and further encounters took place during last night. Our troops made progress in this sector and in the neighborhood of Merris and have taken prisoners.

"The hostile artillery has shown considerable activity about Mount Rouge and Schergenberg and in the vicinity of Zillebeke Lake."

Plan Evacuation

PARIS—The Germans are planning to evacuate the Roye-Lasigny-Noyon salient says the Echo de Paris. It is indicated, the paper adds, that German laborers are at work behind the German front lines on a new Hindenburg line.

The German position in Roye is serious. Not only are the allies a mile and one-quarter west of the town, but the roads out of it toward Peronne, Nesle and Noyon are under the fire of allied guns.

GERMAN ROYALTY IN SUBMARINE TRIP

AMSTERDAM — The Crown Princess of Germany, accompanied by the grand duke of Mecklenburg and the Princess of Brunswick, has make a submarine trip to Helgoland according to German newspapers, which adds that she did not secure the consent of the emperor or the crown prince before leaving.

6,500 MEDICS INVITED TO CONVENTION

Leading American Surgeons Are Asked to be Present

Sixty-five hundred physicians and surgeons of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin have been sent invitations for the third annual Tri-State Medical convention to be held in Madison August 19-22 inclusive.

Gov. E. L. Philip and Mayor George C. Sayle have extended special invitations to a number of leading American surgeons. It is expected 500 or 700 medical men will attend.

When the physicians get together, little time is allowed for recreation. Each day of the convention, at 7 a. m., a clinic will be held, motion picture and lantern slides shown. Lectures will be held throughout the day. Many physicians will bring their wives for whom the wives of Madison doctors will act as hostesses.

The coming of Surgeon General W. C. Gorgas of the United States army will be an attractive feature, as he will tell the middle west what plans of the medical department are for increasing the medical contingent in France.

WOMEN FILE ALIEN ENEMY PAPERS

Check Over Near 11,000 Registration Cards at Postoffice

The number of alien women in the district under the supervision of Postmaster W. A. Devine, including over 500 postoffices, will be practically as great as the number of alien men. An estimate formed on the registration papers filed at the office brings the number of alien women to about 11,000. Great numbers of the papers have had to be returned to their respective offices for corrections.

The work of checking over the papers has been in the hands of women volunteer clerks, who have been working at the postoffice every day this week and three days last week. Groups of about ten women have been assigned to the work each day under the direction of the county women industry committee, Miss Elizabeth Herfurth chairman. The different captains under this committee called together the members of the organizations which they represent. A record of the number of hours each woman works is kept by the captain and the committee chairman. Arm bands will be given for 90 hours' work.

The work will be continued for several days in checking the returned corrected papers.

J. Q. EMERY IN ENDORSEMENT OF TITTEMORE

Former Dairy and Food Commissioner in Statement on Governorship

J. Q. Emery, former dairy and food commissioner, and one of the leading progressives of the state, is out for Tittemore for governor. In a letter to Mr. Tittemore he makes the following statement:

"I regret that the exigencies of our farm work were such as to preclude my hearing you and meeting you personally on the occasion of your speech at the Utter Farm in the town of Rutland. Those of my immediate farm neighbors who heard your address at Stoughton, the same evening, have spoken to me concerning that address in terms of high commendation.

"I have read with considerable care and much interest the platform adopted at the mass conference of farmers and workers at Madison May 1, 1918. The note of loyalty is very clear in that platform; and it is emphatic in support of the war to make the world safe for democracy. At the same time its demands are equally imperative, that democracy be made safe for the world. That platform rings true to the principles which genuine progressive republicans in Wisconsin have advocated and for which they have long struggled.

"It makes promotion of the general welfare, and not mere personal ambition, selfishness and greed, the paramount issue.

"Because you are the exponent and champion of this loyal, constructive, progressive program in the present political campaign, and because I regard you as incomparably the best of the three republican candidates for nomination for governor at the September primary, I am supporting you for that nomination; and here is hoping that you win.

"To the extent of my inquiry, the trend of true blue progressive republicans in the town of Albion is to support you."

DANE COUNTY TO GET $24,497 AUTO LICENSES

Fees Paid to State Amount to $101,465; 9,025 Get Plates

People of Dane county paid $101,465 in auto license fees to the secretary of state within the past fiscal year. The report announced today shows there are 9,029 autos licensed in the county; 167 trucks, 254 motorcycles and 69 dealers.

About 25 per cent of the amount collected is returned to the county and within a few days Dane county will receive a check of $24,497.29.

The seventy-one counties of the state will receive upwards of $500,000 from the state within a few days, as their share of the automobile license fund. Secretary of State Hull announced that for the fiscal year ending June 30, the state had collected in automobile and motor license fees the sum of $2,049,60. Under the law 75 per cent of the amount so collected goes into the highway fund and finds its way as state aid in county highway improvements under the federal law passed at the last session of the legislature. After the cost of administration is deducted, the remainder, about 24 per cent, is distributed among the counties in proportion to the amount paid in from each county in auto license fees.

The amount apportioned among the counties is $989,909.75; the amount that goes into the highway fund is $1,484,927.26. The total cost of administering the law for the past year is due to the fact that auto plates cost $18,236 additional; postage $5,092, and printing $3,138 additional.

The records for the fiscal year show that there were 176,792 automobiles licensed; 5,677 trucks, 3,994 motorcycles, and 1,474 dealers' licenses issued. The auto license fee is $10; trucks from $10 to $25; motorcycles, $4, and dealers' licenses $25.

MEXICAN CRISIS IS AVERTED

Carranza Modifies Decree on Undeveloped Oil Lands

WASHINGTON — The threatened crisis in the relations of Mexico with the entente allies and the United States apparently has been averted by a modification of the new Mexican oil tax decree by President Carranza. It was learned today that on August 12 Carranza in effect cancelled provisions of the decree of July 31 under which undeveloped oil lands might be seized by the Mexican government upon failure of their owners to make declarations and submit to what they regarded as excessive taxation.

AUSTRIA WINS CONCESSIONS IN POLISH SUPPORT

Makes Counter Demands of Germany in Order to Move Troops

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Germany has made concessions to Austria on the Polish question in consequence of the strong stand taken by Emperor Charles and the Austro-Hungarian government, according to information received by the correspondent of the Daily Mail at The Hague to which the Mail gives much prominence.

It is possible there will be no personal union of the crowns of Poland and Austria but the king of Poland is certain to be an Austrian archduke, says the correspondent, who adds that the discussion at German main headquarters had the following basis:

The Germans demanded that Austria send to the western front from ten to fifteen divisions of picked troops, confining themselves to the defensive on the Italian front.

Emperor Charles and his advisors made the counter demands that Germany make further declarations regarding Belgium, guaranteeing evacuation, restoration and an indemnity, make a powerful movement in the direction of peace and that the Polish question be solved in a manner favorable to Austrian wishes.

The advisors of the Austrian emperor, it is declared, emphasized that the opposition of Austrian military and public opinion to the transfer of the troops to the western front was universal. This opposition could only be quieted if the government was assured of Polish support which could be obtained by securing from Germany concessions on the account of Poland and if the public could be shown that the German government had been induced in the direction of another strong effort to obtain peace. Short of this Austria would not send troops to the western front.

PLAN MEDIC CARE FOR DRAFT MEN

Registrants With Remediable Defects to be Sent to Hospitals

All draft registrants held for limited service because of remediable defects are given a chance to co-operate with the government and to fit themselves for service at an earlier time than otherwise available. Letters are being sent out to them from the local draft boards asking that they sign a pledge that they are willing to report at some nearby hospital for surgical treatment when directed by their respective boards.

The plan of the surgeon general of the army is to call into military service all men with remediable defects and assign them to a civilian or base hospital or reconstruction camp for appropriate medical and surgical treatment. The doctors of the state have offered their services for this purpose.

WOMEN STREET CAR CONDUCTORS STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Many tramway lines in London and the surrounding districts were taken by surprise this morning when the women street car conductors refused to take out their cars until they had been granted a five shilling a week bonus which had been given the men but not to the women. The women secured the active support of the men conductors and drivers, who struck in sympathy.

236 OFFICERS SHOT AT MOSCOW

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Arrival at an Atlantic port of a Norwegian steamer with 22 survivors of the American schooner, Madingadah, shelled and set afire Thursday by a German submarine off Winter Quarter shoal, was reported today to the navy department.

The survivors include the entire crew and the navy radio operator. They got off safely in small boats after the submarine attacked and were picked up soon afterward by the Norwegian.

LIFTS BAN ON WOMEN IN BEAN CANNERIES

Industrial Commission to Allow Them to Work After 6 P. M.

The industrial commission today issued a special order exempting bean canneries from the provisions of its order No. 1 which prohibits the employment of women in manufacturing establishments after 6 p. m. Under this special order women may be employed in bean canneries either at day or night work. At day work their hours may not exceed 10 per day or 55 per week, and at night work their hours may not exceed 8 per night or 48 per week. In case of part night and part day work all of the work is regarded as day work if the women employes do not work after 6:30 p. m. on more than one evening a week. On the other hand all of the work is regarded as night work if the women employes do not work after 6:30 p. m. on more than one evening in any week.

This special order has been entered because complaints have reached the commission that the bean canneries are not able to take care of their crop without working after 6 p. m., at least on Saturday evenings. Both the acreage and yield of beans appear to be much greater this year than in any previous season.

The special order entered by the commission is intended to be temporary. It proposes to conduct a comprehensive study of the entire problem of women's hours of labor in bean canneries and thereafter will issue such special orders for bean canneries as may be necessary and reasonable.

BEAVERS PICNIC IN SPITE OF RAIN

Local Colony Dedicates Service Flag With 18 Stars

The local Beaver colony picnicked at Bernard's park, this afternoon, following a decision at Friday night's meeting to hold the picnic rain or shine. The first boat load of the party crossed the lake at 1:30. The dedication of the service flag with eighteen stars was a feature of the program. Norton J. Williams, chairman of the Dane county board, delivered the dedicatory address. Joseph Brown, president of the Federation of Labor, gave a patriotic address.

A baseball game between the Queens and Beavers, a tug of war, and races of all kinds for children and grown-ups were on the program of sports planned for the afternoon. The evening will be spent in dancing.

PREPARE SALARY INCREASE SYSTEM

Departmental Heads to Make Recommendations for Employes

A system of salary increase for city employes was figured out by the finance committee at its meeting, Friday night, and will be presented to the council at the next meeting. The departmental heads will be allowed to recommend salaries for their employes, it was decided.

No definite action was taken by the committee in regard to the bill of office expenses which was presented to the council by the government employment agency at the last meeting, but there was a strong sentiment against voting appropriations for its payment because the agency took up its work some time ago, rented an office, and ordered furniture and equipment without giving the city any notice of its action. The agency has now turned in a bill calling for the payment of something like $2,000 for expenses. Many believe that the office in the old Board of Commerce building is a state office and do not understand why the city should stand the expense since a local office is maintained, in addition, at the city hall.

ICEMEN ORGANIZE 100 PER CENT UNION

Madison icemen are 100 per cent organized, it was found at their meeting in Labor hall, Friday night. Plans have been laid for the holding of a joint meeting of the icemen and coalmen, August 30, to make preparations for participation in the Labor day parade. About 25 new members were initiated into the coal men's union at last night's meeting. The icemen and the coalmen have separate organizations within the Federal Labor union. Plans have been laid to obtain all the drivers of coal wagons to join the union shortly.

50,000 WOMEN NEEDED NEXT YEAR

Majority to be Trained Nurses and Available for Overseas

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Fifty thousand women will be needed by July 1 next year to assist in the care of the sick and wounded of the American army, Surgeon General Gorgas stated today in announcing that young wives with husbands fighting in France would be accepted as hospital assistants.

The vast majority of the 50,000 women must be trained nurses and available for service overseas. To supplement the supply of graduate nurses the army medical department has established the army school of nursing at which physically fit young women between 221 and 35 years will be trained and sent abroad as the need arises. Fully 15,000 women can be used as hospital assistants or student nurses in the United States.

WOMEN ENROLL IN LAND ARMY

Forty-seven to Take Instruction at State Fair

A group of 47 women from the state has been enrolled for instruction in farm work at the first organization of the Woman's Land army in Wisconsin, which will be started at the state fair in Milwaukee by Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, a practical farmer. The women so far enrolled are most supervising teachers in rural districts. It is planned to have women from every county in the state.

They will live in tents for the five days of the fair and will follow a definite routine of work. The subjects to be taken up are dairy cattle, value of milk as a food, raising of pigs and poultry, use of farm machinery, and clothing and recreation for rural districts.

WOMEN INDORSE TRAINING FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Favor Course of Military Discipline for Boys and Girls

CHICAGO — American women have indorsed a plan for a short course of federal education and training under military discipline for every American young man and young woman before they become voters, according to members of a committee representing fifty national organizations who have just completed a canvass of opinion of women in various lines.

The movement was begun here early this year, and at the biennial convention of the Central Federation of Women's Clubs last May a resolution was adopted urging federal training for both women and men. The resolution was the expression of opinion of more than 2,000,000 women, organized in 10,000 clubs in America.

"In addition to making strong, alert, clean cut, thinking Americans, the training would create a sense of individual responsibility, strengthen character and promote a higher regard for each other, for their country and the cooperation necessary for the welfare of all," says a statement issued by the committee explaining the objects of the movement.

"This is the most important movement before the American people today and, in addition, this peace loving nation must never again bear the great penalty of being wholly unprepared to meet unexpected violation of its liberty," the statement continues. "Young men and women trained to promote their own welfare and that of their communities and the nation should also be qualified to respond promptly to the call of their country in its hour of need."

Those who have strongly indorsed the plan include Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, and Mrs. Frederick Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mother and Parent-Teachers' associations and director of the home education divisions of the United States Bureau of Education.

"I am very glad to be one of the founders of the movement for federal training, and agree with all points made by the committee," said Mrs. Catt. "Like a searchlight the war has pointed out all our weak spots. We are a brave people and strong. There is nothing which we will regard as impossible to do. While it is a tragic price to pay, the war will leave us better informed and more alive in the needs of our country than before."

AT THE THEATRES

MAJESTIC.

"The Dream Lady" with Carmel Myers will be the attraction at the Majestic today is adapted from the well-known novel "Why Not" by Margaret Widdemer. Rosamond, the dreamer of dreams was left a legacy, and so with a light heart and a full purse she proceeded to make her dreams come true. The unusual way in which she accomplished this is all interestingly told in this charming play.

FULLER

Being expelled from school, running away twice, interrupting an elopement, and impersonating a famous dancseuse are only a very few of the many adventures that keep pretty little Ann Pennington of the Ziegfried Follies busy in her latest Paramount picture, "The Antics of Ann," which will be the attraction at the Fuller today, afternoon and night. This same feature picture was shown at the Fuller a short time ago, and proved one of the most delightful pictures of the season, and it is only after many requests that the management decided to repeat it here.

In his latest and most successful photoplay, "Selfish Yates," W. S. Hart, the sterling portrayer of western roles will be seen on the screen at the Fuller for three days starting tomorrow afternoon.

GRAND.

"Fighting Bill" Russell leads his cohorts a merry chase in his latest Mutula production, "Up Romance Road" at the Grand today. Bill never does things by halves.

One scene of this melodrama calls for rather rough treatment of Carl Stockdale, as Count Eckstrom, the German spy.

At the point of a pistol Gregory attempts to force a confession from the Count, who has placed a bomb in the shipbuilding plant thirty miles away, due to explode in 25 minutes. The Count refusing to tell, Russell grabs him by the neck, deposits him astride the radiator of his racing car and hits it over the roads at a hundred mile clip.

A WORD OF WARNING

WE are giving these columns over today to an editorial written by Arthur Brisbane, the brainiest editor in America. Brisbane gets $75,000 a year. The Capital Times can't hire him but we can reprint an editorial of his occasionally. Privilege in this country hates Brisbane because Brisbane is preaching a gospel that Big Business doesn't like. The following editorial struck us as being particularly powerful.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

While the world's civilization is making up its mind what is to be done about the out-of-date military autocracy that survives in Prussia, like some mammoth preserved in Siberian ice, another kind of autocracy, recently born, should watch the proceedings with interest.

This country is the home of that new-born autocracy, the autocracy of dollars, or organized monopoly, special privilege and national exploitation, backed up and exalted by a servile press that eats from the plutocrat's hand.

This country has just finished celebrating the great French anniversary.

The men whose specialty is robbing the people should realize just what has been celebrated.

Do they know what our best friend and our highest example—France—DID on July 14, 1789?

Do they understand the meaning of the British labor party's after-the-war program?

Can't they realize that a financial autocracy of arrogant law-defying wealth is just as odious to a free people as were the court hangerson of special privilege of France in the days of Louis XVI?

You men who control the public wealth of the nation make a serious mistake when you order your most solemn mouthpiece, the New York Times, to attack the President, accuse him of protecting traitors, represent him as the "too willing gull" of organized labor, simply because he has asked Congress for authority to manage your telegraphs and telephones in the public interest. Don't you know where your wealth comes from, or how quickly and legally it could vanish?

Get a short history of the French revolution. Learn something.

This nation is peaceful and wishes to remain so within its vast borders. Why don't you allow it to be peaceful? Why don't you curb your overzealous, dishonest, servile corporation lawyers and corporation newspapers? Be satisfied with enough, with ten times your share. Be cautious.

YOU and your property, not they, will bear the brunt if the storm comes.

Soon millions of men will come back from France, impressed with the value of force, and knowing how to use it.

Soon other millions of men will be suddenly dismissed from ammunition factories and shipyards, changed from ten dollars a day to a dollar and a half or no job at all.

You ought to be in shape to face those men and answer the questions they are going to ask. On that day your corporation lawyers, tame officials, boot-licking newspapers, that now flatter and mislead you, will run, as rats run when light is turned on in the cellar.

And YOUR huge financial bulk, too big to run down the rat hole, will have to stand and answer. Do you know what people are paying for the food they eat? Do you know how they feel about it?

Be careful. At least remember what is written here. In a year or two you may wish that you had paid attention to it.

Don't let the fourteenth of July pass over your heads without teaching you anything.

There are rough days ahead. You will need a pilot, not a New York Times manicure.

MRS. ALGAE IN TOWN

MRS. ALGAE visited the east end again last night and the night before.

She rode into town on a breeze from the east.

Mrs. Algae, whose character has been investigated by city officials for twenty-five years, is still being investigated. Residents of the sixth ward continue to close their doors in Mrs. Algae's face but she persists in coming back.

Residents along Lake Monona believe that Mrs. Algae ought to be run out of town but city officials are asking for more time in which to investigate her character.

DOES REGULATION "REGULATE"?

PRESIDENT VAN HISE believes that the policy of regulation which has been extended to basic commodities will continue after the war. But does regulation really "regulate"? The price of steel is being "controlled" but we find the following in the current issue of The Public:

Profits of the United States Steel Corporation for the three months ending June 30 were $153,273,641, or at a rate of more than $600,000,000 a year. The Corporation estimates war taxes to be levied on the quarter's earnings at $90,716,250, leaving net profits of $62,557,391 for the three months. In other words, the Steel Corporation expects to survive such wealth conscription as Congress is likely to impose and come out at the end of the year with something like a quarter of a billion in net profits, or 25 per cent on a billion dollars capitalization. Four years ago the Corporation had to put up with less than $75,000,000 earning for an entire twelve months. The $62,557,391 of profits for three months' operations is the net after deducting a liberal estimate to cover the exactions of the new revenue act, which is yet to be drafted, and after deducting all fixed charges and the cost of new extensions. This is profiteering of the most shameless. It is for the War Industries Board to explain its price-fixing policy, to tell us why the country's steel output is not pooled under an arrangement that would give to each producer a fair margin over and above costs, and no more.

Soldier's Letter

Robert O. Murray, former university man and secretary at the Y. M. C. A. for two years, who is now at the tuberculosis hospital at Wales, received the following letter from his cousin, Fred Attridge, who is convalescing in an English hospital with a load of Krupp lead in his leg. Attridge, who is a Canadian trooper, received his training at the Winnipeg Military academy. Mrs. S. J. Murray, 22 North Webster street, is Robert's mother.

July 14.

Dear Robert:

You will think that I am an awful piker for not having written to you before this but to tell you the truth I hate starting to write letters. Once I get started it isn't so bad.

I got the papers last week and, believe me, it is good to get a squint at a real paper now and then, even if it is a few days old.

Sorry to find out that you have been sick for so long. I know that I am getting fed up with hospital life and I have only been in 3½ months, how you feel about it, is beyond the limits of my imagination.

It has been raining this last four days, and is at it again this morning. As the Yankee said when he landed in this country: "This goldarned country would be all right if it had a roof over it." That is just the way I feel about it. Still it is several shades better than France; so as long as they leave me here you won't hear many strong objections from yours truly.

This place where I am now is only thirteen miles from London. I often take a run up there; it is some old burg believe me. Fritz hasn't blown it all away, but those bombs that he drops are the daintiest device for shifting scenery you ever saw. There is an old saying that a bomb or a shell never hits twice in the same place; that is very easily explained, because after the first one explodes there is no same place left.

My leg is getting all right now. I can walk without a limp when no one is looking, but it isn't good policy to walk around the hospital without a limp, because they might put me to work, or send me back to the depot.

I am sending you a little souvenir that I took from a dead French soldier. It is a Catholic Scapula medal I think. He was laying in the woods where I was wounded, and I saw this thing clutched in his hand so I took it. It was some scrap up in that wood boy. We had to face an artillery and machine gun barrage to get to it, and when we got there he shortened up his range and dropped the barrage on the wood. We had no orders to take prisoners but we kept eight for stretcher bearers, and, believe me, I never saw anybody so willing to work as those eight men. I guess they had a kind of a hunch what happened to the ones we didn't need, so they were overjoyed at the prospect of making themselves useful.

When we first entered the wood I saw a Boche about 30 yards away behind a little clump of underbrush; he looked so damned scared that it was a shame to do it, but war is war. He hung against the bush for a second after I fired, and I was just getting ready to give him another, but his knees gave way and he collapsed in a heap. I don't know whether it was just a sudden fainting fit struck him or heart failure, but I am willing to bet that he showed up in hell for breakfast next morning.

About one minute after I plugged him, a whizz-bang sat down alongside of me but it didn't stay long. I guess I must have scared it or something because in its hurry to get away, it took half a tree with it, a fair sized piece of ground, and in the way of an apology for its hurried departure, it left a piece of Krupp's steel in my left leg.

Then I began to get scared. As soon as I got hit I had visions of a nice clean bed in Blighty. I was just patting myself on the back thinking that all my troubles were over but oh! no. The drone of another one coming reminded me that I was not yet out of the danger zone, so I proceeded to make myself scarce. How I got down to the dressing station with one leg dangling and without getting hit again God only knows, but I made it and got my leg tied up and the bleeding stopped.

After the medical officer had dressed the wound he said "Don't walk anymore, just sit down outside and wait for the ambulance." I went out and sat down for about five minutes and a shell caved in the house next door to the dressing station, so I didn't wait for the ambulance. I figured it out that the next one might be closer, and my vision of Blighty began to fade, and the vision of a little wooden cross with R. I. P. on it leered up on the screen. (By the way, in case you don't know, R. I. P. means Rest In Peace or ripped in pieces) so with the aid of a corporal who belonged to the Essex Yeomenry (English cavalry) I walked eight kilometres back to the next town behind the line. When we got there I lay down behind a big French naval gun, and oh boy! when she opens her lips to speak you don't need any ear trumpet to hear it, but that didn't worry me in the least my bandage had slipped and the blood was pouring out of the wound. I fainted dead away, and when I came to I was on the driver's seat of a horse ambulance bound for hospital, and the driver was holding a water bottle full of rum under my nose, so you see it worked out just like a dime novel. I got to Blighty and am having a good time.

It is a great life provided you live through it. You don't realize how sweet life really is until you are in danger of losing it and then you know.

I would love to get back to dear old Canada again but I guess that there is a big job to do over here first, and that every man is needed to do it. The Yanks are pouring into France in a steady stream, and believe me bo, there will be something doing, with Uncle Sam in the box and John Bull behind the bat, and Jack Canuck playing first base. She will be "some" game.

Remember the good old times we had when I was down in Tomah? I would like to see you again, old boy, and old it over. I will send you a photo as soon as I get some taken, if you want one.

Give my love to Aunt Sarah and Agnes, and write soon Robert because a letter is the greatest thing out to banish a fed up feeling. I am an awful man to correspond with but I will try to answer all you can shoot at me. Your loving cousin.

Fred.

State News

LA CROSSE — Every case tried at the present term of federal court for violation of the espionage act in the western district of Wisconsin has resulted in conviction, Albert C. Wolf, district attorney, announced Wednesday while visiting at his home here. He reported 25 convictions including Judge Becker of Monroe, former Assistant Secretary of State Nagler, and other well known citizens of the state.

LA CROSSE — The war is believed to be the cause of a decrease in the number of dogs in the city. There are 133 fewer than there were last year, the total this year being 1,606 for a town of 56,000. The high cost of feed is said to be responsible for it.

LA CROSSE — The lure of the great war got in his blood, so "Ted" Burns, son of John C. Burns, democratic committeeman from La Crosse is on his way to an officer's training camp. Ted is married and the father of a child. He obtained military training at the state university and with the local company of the state guards.

LA CROSSE — Nineteen La Crosse county young men left here Thursday for various schools in the country where they will take training courses which will fit them as mechanics in the army. Fifty-two men left the city of La Crosse for the same purpose. Class one in the city and also in the county is now made up wholly of the class of 1918.

MENASHA — James Driscoll, who two weeks ago had his clothing stripped from his body when he was caught on a revolving shaft while at work in the Strange paper mill here, suffered the same mishap again on Monday. This time however he sustained two broken ribs.

MENASHA — While working in the Red Cross rooms on a sweater for a soldier in France, Mrs. Dodge, 70, of this city, was overcome by the heat on Tuesday. She will recover.

MARINETTE — In the casualty list as revealed by telegrams from the war department to parents here appear the names of four Marinette men. Alexander Willenauve, machine gun company killed in action, August 6, Corporal Michael Hoefer, killed in action July 31, Francis Bawyne, severely wounded. August 4th, Lieutenant Harry Donnelson, wounded, date unknown. The latter wired his parents that he was doing finely. The last three are members of the old second regiment of the Wisconsin National Guards in the 32nd division.

WAUPACA — At a mass meeting of Waupaca business and professional men Wednesday afternoon, a resolution was adopted offering to the farmers their help during the harvest, offering to close stores and factories one day a week and to furnish men from the shops for emergency calls during silo filling and potato digging times. Labor conditions in the country are not as bad as generally reported, as farmers have managed to get their crop well along so far without serious hindrance. The county labor committee will name local labor committees in each town, and these local committees will register all city men willing to go on farms for a day or more and be subject to call at any time.

WAUPACA — Paul Nyhus, food emergency agent for Waupaca county, who answered to the call of the draft two weeks ago and went to Camp Grant, has been assigned by the war department back to the county so that he can assist the farmers in the harvesting of their crops. The action was taken in response to the urgent request of the county council of Defense, the governor being induced to make a special request on the department owing to the real need of the county agent this summer.

WAUPACA — The sixty-third annual session of the Wisconsin Grand Lodge of Good Templars was held Wednesday at Camp Cleghorn, Grand Chief Templar Weber of Fond du Lac being in the chair. The reports showed some decrease in number of lodges and membership. There are now 37 live lodges in the state, as against 39 a year ago. The membership is now 506. Last year it was 576.

All the grand lodge officers were reelected and continued in office without installation. The report of the committee on legislation as adopted favored war time prohibition and ratification of the national prohibition amendment.

MANITOWOC — When 40 Manitowoc county boys left Wednesday to join the colors, there was an annual fact revealed. It was found that among the number were representatives of three families who have given thirteen boys to the service. One of the boys, Leonard Hansen, is the fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hansen to join the colors. Herbert Lettenberger is the fourth son of his family to be sent to camp within the year, while John Jutil, another of the selectmen also has three brothers serving the country, two of the number being "over there."

MANITOWOC — Thirty-three Manitowoc county women have volunteered in response to the call for the nation's first reserve corps. Manitowoc county's quota was 29 but it was over supplied by four when the campaign closed. The list includes a number of prominent society women of this city and Two Rivers. Manitowoc city has 13 of the 33 who have volunteered. Ten of the women are country school teachers and the county War Relief association has appealed to the school boards throughout the county to retain the services of these women up to the time that they receive their calls.

ON THE SQUARE--AND OFF

By the Observer

Chief Heyl and his firemen at the central station are quite pleased with the box of story books which has found its way to them from some unknown benefactor. The fellows know that he is a boy, but they do not know his name. However, they are duly grateful for the kind remembrance of their little friend who has supplied them with such a wealth of reading matter. Most of the books are by the popular boy's writer, the well-known Horatio Alger, Jr., and the husky fire-fighters take to them like a duck to water.

A new friend visited us this morning. She was black with a few white spots here and there, and she rubbed around our legs in a most friendly manner, purring loudly all the time, as if to say:

"Surely, you must know me. I'm the youngest daughter of the son of the old cat, my grandmother, who was with you all last winter."

"Why, of course, we remember you," was our quick reply as we swung the little wooly lump of fur to our desk, "come on up and visit awhile."

George Kraft has a picture of Ole Moen in the window of his plumbing shop on West Main street. There's nothing unusual about that. But the queer part of it is that the picture is placed in the bowl of a wash basin, and it gives one the impression that Ole is everlastingly washing himself.

Miss Lillian Kupfer does not like the weather at all. She simply can not see why it has to be freezing cold one day and boiling hot the next. It caused Lillian to contract the croup, which, as everyone knows, is such a childish illness. We do not blame Lillian at all for complaining.

T. B. Phelps, came into the United States employment office, in charge of Prof. L. B. Wolfenson on the second floor of the city hall, Friday, and told John Cummings, assistant in charge, that he was looking for work, that he had just come from Chicago, that he was a boilermaker by trade, and that he had come to Madison to prepare a home for his wife who is in ill-health and needs a change of climate. Phelps had his hand bound up with a bandage and held in a sling around his neck. He said it was blood poisoning. But Phelps was looking for work and he didn't care to be idle any longer than necessary at this time when Uncle Sam needs everyone's co-operation. There is not the slightest trace of slacker in that sort of a fellow.

The clock in Rheims' steeple strikes one.
You said you were coming right home from the war
As soon as the battle was done.

Come home, come home.
O father, dear father, come home.
Say, what are we sticking around for?
We can walk now, but soon we must run.

We are always deeply interested in Mr. Conde Nast's sprightly journal, "Vanity Fair." For the first time we must take issue with him. In department headed "For the Well-Dressed man" the first figure presented is that of a pale-faced society man in high hat and full-dress suit with the customary long-tailed coat. Conde's news editor should have informed his fashion editor that the War Industries Board will abolish coattails. It is going to be a tough season for Mr. Nast's fashion heroes, but war is war. We would suggest that the "well-dressed man" No. 1 be presented with a pair of shears so that he may do the patriotic thing, just as in Japan they present a person with a snickersnee and tell him to go out in the backyard and eliminate himself by hari-kari.

WOMEN SEEK TO MAKE OVERALLS MORE POPULAR

Declare "Service Uniform" More Modest Than Most Costumes

The women's committee of the state council of defense believes the overall, modestly called "service uniform," used by girls in factories is more modest than some of the costumes affected by girls who do office work, and has started out on an educational campaign to make other people think so.

This is because at Clintonville there is a large automobile factory which employs eighty women who work at machines and are required to wear the indutrial service uniform, which consists of a modified one-piece overall.

The company installed a rest room where the women could change their clothes, but grease and oil are not easily removed. Besides, the oil often soaked through to the undergarments and girls of dainty habits wished to make a more complete toilet than was possible at the shop. So they did what seemed to them the only sensible thing to do. They put on their uniforms at home and wore them from the home to the shop and back.

The people of Clintonville—some of them—objected. They said it was immodest and improper and they appealed to the factory management.

The women's committee, therefore, is going to try to convince the people of Clintonville, and incidentally the rest of the people in the state, that wearing a service uniform during war is not immodest, but patriotic.

"Considering the costumes we see on the streets these summer days," remarked Mrs. William Kittle, chairman of the department of women industry, "It is difficult to see why anyone should be shocked by the sight of a girl in the sensible industrial service uniform, which is surelly quite as modest as filmy Georgylette waists, ribbon camisoles and short skirts with their accompanying expense of silk stockings!"

"The work of county food administrators, who give their time and energy gratis are in the second line of trenches toward winning the war.

"This last month, they have helped a great deal by their co-operation in carrying out the plan of sugar conservation. They are very careful in giving out the ten pound canning certificates, and keep close watch on the distribution. Due to their capable handling of local sugar situations, it is hard for anyone, even household consumers, to overstep their allotment.

"The large saving of wheat by Wisconsin is also due in part to the efforts of the county food administrators who aid us in keeping the people informed of the flour and wheat regulations and in enforcing them. Situations frequently arise in counties which can be settled more easily by a man familiar with all the circumstances through having lived there. In this way, county food administrators are invaluable to us, and if they are competent men of good judgment, they can take charge of local affairs, their decisions being subject to our approval."

AROUSE PUBLIC TO MENACE OF SOCIAL ILLS

Educational Pamphlets on "Third Great Plague" Prepared by Health Dept.

Two bulletins on the restriction and prevention of venereal diseases have been published by the state board of health for generad distribution. One is written for young men and boys; the other for public officers, parents and educators. A third will be issued later for young women and girls.

Health Aspects Considered

The problem is considered purely from a public health standpoint, the health authorities feeling certain that the line of control is the same as for other dangerous communicable diseases, such as diphtheria, smallpox and scarlet fever, that persons not infected must be protected, and that the opportunities for carriers to spread the disease must be prevented.

It is because these results must come through education of the individual and the public that these pamphlets were prepared. It is recognized that until public opinion will support the enforcement of rigid laws necessary to control these dangerous and widespread diseases, no permanent results can be obtained. Centuries of silence concerning them are declared to have aided rather than prevented their transmission.

Frankness Is Needed

"These problems cannot be solved through whispers and behind closed doors," one bulletin advises. "These diseases must be attacked in the open and be thoroughly understood by all individuals who are old enough to appreciate and comprehend their importance and seriousness. . . . Venereal diseases tend to to weaken the individual and in a great many instances shorten and destroy human lives. Practically every community has this problem to solve. It can be solved. Now is the time to begin its solution."

Under the law, it is the duty of physicians to report to the state board of health by number all cases of venereal disease occurring in their practice. Names of patients are not required, and all parties are protected from publicity.

INDIANOLA BOYS HOLD POW WOW

Charles E. Brown Entertains With Local Indian Legends

The boys' summer camp at Camp Indianola on the north shore of Lake Mendota held its annual pow-wow Thursday night. About fifty Indianola boys, uniformed in blankets and feather headdresses and the instructional staff participated in this unique ceremony. The exercises consisting of Indian stories, songs, and dances were held on the parade ground directly following retreat in a large dance circle outlined with willow branches in the center of which a fire burned.

The music for the dances was furnished by the Indian drum and flute played by several of the boys. Charles E. Brown, of the State Historical museum entertained the company with local Indian legends and stories of native history. Spectators were the fathers and mothers of the boys.

On Tuesday of next week Camp Indianola will visit the State Museum in a body and will afterward make a launch pilgrimage to sites of arcoeological and historical interest on the shores of Lake Mendota.

ONWARD SAM WINS JANESVILLE RACE

Harry Shaw Pilots Question Mark to Second Money at Galena

Harry Shaw landed Question Mark, the mare owned by Mrs. E. R. Elliott, in second place in her first race of the season at Galena, Ill., Wednesday. Peter Axel was the winner of the event, the 2:30 pace, with a $400 purse attached.

Question Mark won the first heat on the muddy field in 2:22¼. She will enter the Mineral Point races next week, and is entered in the 2:17 event at the Dane county fair the following week. She was sired by Dan Patch and is 7 years old.

Tom Patrick piloted Onward Sam, Charles Elver's horse, to first money in the 2:10 pace for a $1,000 purse at Janesville Thursday. Onward Sam has had a varied career, being bought at one time by Peter Murphy of New York for $3,500. Failure to perform consistently caused his sale again, this time to Mr. Elver.

Various pilots, including Harry Shaw and Mac H. Putnam, could do nothing with her till Frank Pierce of Illinois won five races in a row with her in 1917. Mr. Elver drove her all winter with hobbles, and she now appears to be on her mettle for future races at Monroe, Madison, Watertown and Milwaukee. She is entered in the 2:08 pace, purse $1,500, at the state fair.

These champion athletes from America represented their country in the big inter-allied track and field meet held in Paris, Judy 17, this year. They were beaten by the French in the 1,000-yard relay race, but finished second, ahead of the Belgian and Italian teams. Italy was third, Belgium fourth.

Great Lakes Track Team To Try For A. A. U. Honors

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Coach Franz Marceau of the Great Lakes Naval Training station track team is extremely optimistic in regard to the Navy's chances of lifting the National A. A. U. track and field championship from the present holder, the Chicago Athletic association.

The 1918 games will be staged in the new athletic field at Great Lakes—a stadium that boasts a quarter mile straight away path and a quarter-mile oval track. The senior events are booked for Sept. 21, the juniors for the day previous and the all rounds for Sept. 26.

Has Champ Material.

Marceau has not lined up his material from the 46,000 sailors here but it is no secret that several national champions are included in its personnel. For instance there is Andy Ward, holder of both the senior 100 and 220 yard titles, and Ed Knourek, pole vaulter, connected with the team.

Loren Murchinson of St. Louis, junior 300-yard champion, is serving in detention. Dean Leffler, western A. A. U. hurdle star, is a seaman at Camp Dewey. Earl Gilfillan, the Notre Dame star is ready for the jumps and weight.

Coach Will Run.

Coach Marceau himself will enter the middle distance races. Marceau was a point gainer on Coach Martin Delaney's team that cleaned up in St. Louis a year ago.

The coach will issue an official call for all track men in a few days. He expects several hundred candidates to turn out.

SPORT EVENTS OF THE DAY

Wheat, with an average of .341 is showing the way, with Daubert trailing him twenty points. Heinie Groh of Cincinnati, who gave promise of becoming the 1918 batting champion has fallen into a tie for third place.

Speaker Takes Third.

In the American league, Tris Speaker, the Cleveland veteran, crowded George Sisler of St. Louis out of third place with an average of .342, Sisler pulling up fourth, two points behind him. Cobb, besides leading the league in batting and scoring threatens to annex the base-stealing honors.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON TO PITCH FOR REDS

CINCINNATI — The return to the mound of the "Old Master," Christy Mathewson, will be one of the features of the closing of baseball at the Cincinnati National league park, Sept. 1 and 2. "No other city will bid baseball good bye in such impressive fashion" is President Hermann's idea of the celebration.

Trap Gun and Rod

by Tom Marshall

An Ohio River Duck Hunt! The Evansville, Ind., quartette are a well known quantity to the trapshooting fraternity. G. A. Beard, Wilbur Erskine, Jr., Frank Fuchs, Al Green and Walter Jones, are not only expert shots at the trap but their "Shooting At Homes" rank as premier social events.

Stage Duck Hunt.

Aboard the 24 foot motor boat "Rambler," the writer was a guest of this aggregation on a most successful duck hunt. Our engines were put in motion and the boat swung out from the Evansville shore and headed down the Ohio River with Commodore Fuchs officiating at the wheel as pilot. As we rushed down stream, we were a happy congenial party of hunters. Many were the stories told of our prowess with the scatter gun. It was a sportsmen's courtesy to listen, digest, accept and believe without delving into details all of the stories recited. Ducks had been reported to us in countless numbers at French Island about 23 miles below Evansville, where they were feeding in the corn fields on the limited crops of the natives and we had been especially urged to run down and hunt incidentally acting as corn protectors.

The rocking of the boat in conjunction with a few properly fitted "night-caps" induced sleep and we were soon dreaming of the execution of difficult singles and doubles or possibly a few pot shots made in our boyhood days.

Collision at Full Speed.

We were suddenly awakened with a crash, every phase of a head end railroad collision was introduced. Commodore Fuchs had discovered that his engine was skipping and headed the boat for the shore, his judgment of distance was in error and he failed to shut off his engine. At the logical moment, as a result he went into the bank under full headway. Is it necessary to state the oversight was immediately mentioned to the Commodore, accompanied by a few emphatic remarks, which really did not savor of compliments for our skipper, being a guest I was handicapped into complete silence.

Breaking day was announced by the ducks starting an incessant line of conversation and flying in every direction apparently badly rattled.

After we rehabilitated into blinds a number of old corn shocks which had been torn down by the hungry ducks in their hunt for food, we scattered through the field with about 100 yards between us. Ducks commenced to move and were soon milling in every direction, they were confused, which is indicative of an approaching storm. A dark bank of clouds lay in the west from which issued flashes of lightning with suppressed thunder, which our tame decoys devoted their time to dodging.

Barrage Fire Attack.

Incoming ducks fairly fell into our decoys, they were apparently reluctant to leave, even after they had been saluted in mid air by our barrage fire. Doubles were so easy and numerous, they did not receive honorable mention at the evening meal. Sex favorites had been continuously played and our bag of birds were for the most part green-heads. We had our limit and were back to the boat before the storm broke. Mr. Martin had discovered the fact that all of our party were not prohibitionists and he accompanied us back to the boat, where he demonstrated real corn juice capacity, at the same time expressing a preference for that good old "stick-gin," which has the torch light procession effect as it marches down ones throat. Our boat was made fast to the bank, soon there was a tugging at the hawsers and caps full of wind were skitting over the water.

Fight With Storm.

Fuchs is a practical boatman, he improvised some spars, extending them inshore, which saved us from being beached, when a 50-mile wind churned the ordinarily placid Ohio into a sea of white caps. We had previously telephoned back to Evansville for a motor expert who appeared about the time the storm abated and soon had our engine performing its proper functions.

Skirting the shore on our up trip, taking advantage of eddies and jetting points, we killed a number of birds which were utilizing bank protection from the storm. Our trip was a success from every angle, many of our Evansville friends were feasted on "corn-fed ducks." More power to the Evansville Quintette, my entertainers.

Fishing

"Jugging on the Mississippi River!" This is not a transgression of the prohibition laws, neither is it akin to "boot-legging." This method of fishing dates back to the advent of those Jesuit Fathers, who record the historic fact of "Jugging" in their early writings. The Indians who made their homes along the Mississippi, found a shortage—as usual—in jugs, there being an extreme scarcity of stoneware on the market. As a crude substitute the Indians secured from the buffalo, which at that time roamed the prairies, numerous bladders, which they fleshed, dried, inflated with air, tied with a deer sinew and then dried and smoked them until they much resembled parchment. They were then ready to be utilized as floats during the annual fishing carnival, which usually extended over a period of several days and was made a continuous round of pleasure.

Warriors Load Canoes.

Canoes were loaded with jug warriors, native and visitors, an extended trip was made up the river, to a point which would require just en time to float back to the established Indian village. At a given signal from the Chief, all hands with short lines and primitive hooks attached were thrown into the river, after having been baited with intestines, which were very attractive to cat-fish. A three or four mile current floated them quietly along until the bait was assailed by a voracious channel cat-fish. Having hooked himself, the blanket immediately disappeared below the surface, there to remain until the fish drowned away, at which time the bladder would bob to the surface, in the interim, being towed by the hooked fish very rapidly and pursued by the Indians in their canoes, the first to grasp the travelling bladder to become owner of the fish, which became food. The duration of the race depended upon the size and the pep of the fish that was hooked. The floating arrival at the village was at all times followed by a free for all fish barbecue.

Hold "Jug" Carnival.

Being conversant with the history of "Bladder jugging," I was delighted when my friends R. L. Tomlinson and O. H. Lloyd, invited me to join them in a "jug fishing carnival." In order contest, half gallon jugs were substituted for buffalo bladders and the fishing grounds between New Boston and Keithsburg, Illinois, on the Mississippi River, a distance of about 7 miles.

There was no wind to drift our jugs ashore, hence conditions were ideal. Before we had our full battery of jugs at work we had a challenge from a 6 pound cat-fish, who had attached himself to one of our jugs and was splitting the water in a wil deffort to escape, the jug would occasionally disappear, to soon appear upon the surface with a jump. The oars were popping in the open oar locks, as we pursued the traveling jug, which we finally separated from a nice silver colored cat fish. "There he goes," was the immediate announcement, before we could rebait the hook, again the race was on for an exciting few minutes, the winning of the race meant an additional cat fish for our live box. An occasional line would snag, turning in a most realistic false alarm as the jug would disappear, but reappearing at the same spot told the story of a snaggled line. Our catches were numerous, the innovation sport was great diversion in addition to being a real meat geeter.

ANSWERS

Question—Do professionals shoot both targets and game with both eyes open? C. H. C.

Answer—Yes, most professionals shoot with both eyes open. They point a gun as you would point your index finger or shoot with a bow and arrow at a moving object.

Question—Are twelve or sixteen bore guns best for small game? Davenport, Ia. John Clark.

Answer—Twelve gauge are the standard size for general shooting on account of ammunition being much easier to get in outlying districts. The smaller gauge guns are lighter to carry, but require much greater accuracy.

244 CLASS 1 MEN STILL IN DANE COUNTY

General Holway Makes Compilation for Entire State

Adjutant General Orlando Holway was making a final compilation today of the number of the class one men uncalled in the state of Wisconsin. While this compilation has not been completed, the adjutant general is of the opinion that there are approximately 6,000 class one men still uncalled in the state. There are a few class one men remaining from the June 5, 1917, registration, but the largest number are from the registration June 5, 1918.

There are only five men in class 1 in Dane county under the 1917 registration. In the 1918 registration Dane county, district 1, has 83 men remaining, and district 2 has 50; and Madison has 96, four of which are negroes. This is a grand total of 244 first class men in the county.

PRES. POINCAIRE INSPECTS NAVY COOPERATION

Minister of Marine Accompanies Him to French Port

PARIS—President Poincaire and Georges Leygues, minister of marine, returned to Paris today after a visit of two days at a French port where they inspected the Franco-American naval bases and were enabled to obtain a first-hand view of the co-operation of the two navies in combatting German submarines.

Immediately after their arrival there a report was received that an enemy submarine had just been sunk by a French patrol, while it was confirmed at the same time that another submarine had been destroyed by an American patrol a few days before.

President Poincaire made an inspection of American installations at the port, being especially interested in the hydro-airplane station.

While the two officials were at the port a convoy was signalled coming in and the president embarked on a war vessel to observe the arrangements made for the protection of ships.

A dirigible balloon, hydro-airplanes and rapid destroyers co-operated perfectly in preventing any submarine attack which might have been made. The convoy came into the harbor with each vessel keeping in perfect line until the anchorage was reached.

President Poincaire then went on board a destroyer and participated in the chase of an allied submarine somewhere below the surface. The chase lasted for an hour and if the submarine had been German the pursuit would have ended disastrously for it.

NEWSPAPER MAN WINS WAR CROSS

Gibbons, Tribune Correspondent, Awarded French Medal

CHICAGO — Floyd Gibbons, a special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune in France, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre with the palm by the French war ministry, according to a special cablegram from Paris to the Tribune. General Petain's citation states that Gibbons war seriously wounded June 5, while going to the aid of a wounded American officer, "This giving proof of the finest devotion."

Mr. Gibbons is the first American newspaper correspondent to get the French war cross for specific bravery.

I. W. W. TESTIMONY COMES TO AN END

CHICAGO — Testimony in the I. W. W. case was concluded today and Attorney Nebeker for the government began his closing argument.

Mr. Nebeker argued to the jury that their work was as important as that of men in the trenches so far as the welfare of the country is concerned, in peace as well as war. The government's case, he said was proven in the defense document themselves.

FARMERS ATTACK HIGH FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON — Increased freight rates on corn, oats, rye and barley, granted by Director General McAdoo in his 25 per cent advance order of June 25 last were attacked today by the National Council of Farmers' cooperative associations, in a complaint filed today with the interstate commerce commission asking that the old rates be re-established.

JACKMAN IN STATEMENT ON BYRON NELSON

been made about six months before that time. Before he went he made application, the same as the other university boys did, to the proper committee of the university faculty, told where he was going and all of the details of it, and made a report every month to the proper authorities at the university. At the time he went Chandler, the captain of the basketball team, went with him. Before Byron Nelson went Egbert Stondal also went, and there was also on the farm another Madison boy by the name of Strehlow. These boys are all now in the service of the United States; Chandler might just as well be accused of "skedaddling" as Nelson. In either case the charge would be unwarranted.

At the time the boys went no draft law had been passed and it was uncertain if any draft law would be passed. While they were in Canada the four boys learned through the columns of the newspapers that the draft law had been passed. They were unable to obtain any information as to what to do. One of them went to the American consul at Lethbridge and asked for information and was told that the consul had no knowledge as to what they were to do. Unable to find out what to do they sat down on a Sunday afternoon and each of the boys wrote a letter, Chandler writing his letter to his home at Waupaca, and Strehlow and Nelson writing a letter each to the county clerk of Dane county. There were at least seven witnesses to the fact that these boys wrote these letters. In the letters they stated their age, height, weight and other facts which they thought might be pertinent, and asked that if the letters did not give the necessary information, or if there was anything further for them to do that they might be advised. These letters were all given to Strehlow and Strehlow was here ready and willing to testify that he mailed the letters himself at Spring Coolee, Canada.

About a week after these letters had been mailed Byron Nelson received a letter from his father containing the statement that the provost marshal had stated that there was no way in which men outside the limits of the United States could register and sending a copy of the regulations.

Chandler, Nelson, Strehlow and Stoldall all stayed on the farm until fall and then came back and each of them registered. Strehlow and Nelson are in the army. Chandler is in the navy.

The above are the plain, unvarnished facts and it does not seem to me that it is either fair or just, or giving these boys a square deal that any of them should be charged, for political purposes, with "skedaddling" or that any aspersions should be thrown on their names or that anything should be done which would reflect in any way upon these young men who are now in the service of their country.

I am sending copy of this letter to each of the daily papers in this city and I trust that you will kindly publish the same.

Very truly yours,
Ralph W. Jackman.

TOBACCO CASE TO BE TAKEN TO CIRCUIT COURT

Edgerton Board Refuses Cowles' Motion to Increase Assessments

Herbert V. Cowles, Dane county assessor of incomes, will take the case of the Edgerton tobacco assessments into the courts following the refusal of the city board to review to act on the motion Friday. Mr. Cowles moved that the board should instruct the clerk to insert $55 for filler and $75 for wrapper in the tobacco assessments in place of the $35 and $55 figures which had been illegally inserted after the board had acted on the other figures.

Mr. Cowles furnished testimony which proved that the state tax commission had given out a ruling stating that all tobacco in the state should be assessed with the $55 and $75 rate, that the Edgerton assessor had agreed to abide by this ruling, that these figures had been passed on by the board of review, and inserted in the books, but that they had been crossed out and the $35 and $55 figures put in their stead, later. This was all admitted to be true by the Edgerton board of review, which declared that it had no power to reopen the assessments.

In case a writ of mandamus is obtained, Mr. Cowles will take the case into the Dane county circuit court. Otherwise, it will be decided in Rock county. Work in preparation for the court action will be done during the coming week by Assessor Cowles.

Deerfield, which had taken the same action as Edgerton in self defense, was persuaded to change its assessments to $55 and $75 by Assessor Cowles, who appeared before the board of review Thursday. Mr. Cowles has been asked to appear before the board of review at Pleasants Springs, Monday, to settle some of the difficulties there.

Janesville, Stoughton, Madison, Sun Prairie, and Deerfield all have the $55 and $75 rate of assessment.

UNIONS PREPARE FOR LABOR DAY

Program to be at Vilas Park; Plan Floats for Parade

Members of the Madison labor unions' general committee in charge of the celebration of Labor day, met in Labor hall Friday night and reviewed what preparations had already been made and what was still to be done. No definite plans have as yet been worked out, except that it is generally known that the parade will start around the square and proceed to Vilas park to hear a program on which it is expected that Prof. John R. Commons will be the principal speaker.

Floats for the parade by the different unions and stunts of various sorts planned by the women are still in indefinite form. It is expected that some definite announcements will be made by the committee heads on Monday.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK—The week-end session on the stock exchange began with every indication of a continuance of the recent stagnant conditions. Most leaders were unchanged from the previous day's final quotations, Canadian Pacific proving the only marked exception on its reaction of 1¼ points. United States Steel and Marine preferred gained slight fractions, but equipments and coppers were irregular. Specialties yielded in the absence of pool support, declining from ½ point to a full point.

Liberty 3½'s were in further demand at the year's new high record of 100.16.

NEW YORK STOCK

NEW YORK—Further accumulation of Liberty 3½ per cent bonds at the new high record of 100.50 was the most interesting feature of today's dull session of the stock exchange. Rails and industrials reacted under pressure, the reversal extending from fractions in steels and equipments to 1¼ points advance. Specialties were less prominent as a result of recent restrictions but General Motors registered an extreme gain of 2¼ points. American Telephone gained over a point and other utilities were steady to firm. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 100,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO—Bullish crop estimates rallied the corn market today from weakness which was shown at the start. Initial declines were ascribed to favorable weather. Subsequently, however, authoritative figures on the yield for the seven surplus states put the total at 410,000,000 bushels less than was harvested last year. Opening prices, which varied from ¼ cent off to ¼ cent advance, with September 1.61½ to 1.61⅞ and October 1.63 to 1.63⅝, were followed by a slight setback and then by an advance all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. Trade was of moderate volume. After opening unchanged to ¼ higher with September 69 to 70⅛ it reacted a little, and then scored substantial gains.

Provisions lacked support. Higher quotations on hogs were ignored.

Extreme scantiness of receipts for the week tended to maintain the strength of the market. Prices closed firm ⅝ to ⅞ cents net higher, with September 1.62¼ to 1.63⅝ and October 1.63⅝ to 1.64.

WAR BOARD COMING HERE ON MONDAY

Controversy Between Employes and Employers to be Heard

16 PLANTS AFFECTED

Questionnaires Prepared by Men Will be Presented to Federal Officials

Three examiners of the United States War Board have announced their intention of coming to Madison from Milwaukee to hold hearings on the controversy between the employes and employers in 16 of Madison's shops, Monday.

C. W. Smith, T. R. Bland, and Prof. F. W. Ogburn, chairman, comprise the examining board which will sit at Madison at 2 o'clock, Monday, presumably in the capitol. General Organizer Paul C. Huybrecht of the International Association of Machinists, who has been in Milwaukee watching the proceedings of the examiners has come to Madison. Mr. Huybrecht, Hill and Spohn, George Servais, president of the Machinists' union and the joint committee of the employes, three men from each shop, appointed last June, will present the case of the men before the examiners.

Questionnaires have been compiled from the majority of the men in all the shops in regard to wages, hours of labor, and living conditions by Hill and Spohn, by Mr. Huybrecht, and by Oscar Johnson, secretary of the Machinists' union. Data on the rise in the cost of living has also been compiled.

Wages, the question of collective bargaining for wages, and the 8-hour day are the three cardinal points which the war board examiners will be called upon to decide. After the hearings have been completed, the examiners will send their recommendation of a decision to the war board. The decision which the war board will make will be final because both the employers and employes have agreed to abide by the decision of the war board. This agreement was made at the time of the impending strike a short while ago and was witnessed and brought about by James J. Barrett, federal commissioner of conciliation, who is now in Milwaukee and may be called in as a witness in the Madison controversy.

Wednesday Was Busy Day for American Aviators

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE (Thursday, Aug. 15) —During the aerial fighting on Wednesday which was the busiest day American aviators have experienced in some time, an American airman attacked a German balloon. His gun jammed when he tried to fire incendiary bullets, but he was able to fire fifty of the other kind. The German aeronaut then jumped with his parachute.

An enemy airplane attacked an American balloon but was driven off by fire from the ground without forcing the balloonist to jump.

TITTEMORE WOULD CHANGE STATE COUNCIL

Tells Mt. Horeb Audience He Would Have Better Representation

MT. HOREB—A reorganization of the state council of defense and of the state railroad commission was promised by J. N. Tittemore, farmers' candidate for governor on the republican ticket, in his speech here Friday night.

Tittemore spoke in the opera house which was packed with 600 people. Many people were standing. Mr. Tittemore was introduced by A. T. Torge.

"There are two things which I propose to do when I am governor," said Mr. Tittemore. "I shall not let the grass grow under the feet of the legislature until I shall ask them to reconstitute the state council of defense and the state railroad commission. In the case of the former, from my own knowledge of the situation in the state, the farmers and laboring men of the state, generally speaking, have no confidence in them. The fact of the matter is the law itself does not meet the situation. The present law establishes a state council of defense, the members of which shall be appointed by the governor and shall be selected as follows:

"One representative of the manufacturing interests of the state; one representative of labor; one representative of the farmer; a woman who shall represent the Red Cross and relief societies; a physician who shall represent the medical profession; one representative of the bankers; one representative of the railroads; one trained engineer; the adjutant general and two citizens at large.

"The fact of the matter is several of the vocations covered in the law are perfectly useless on the state council of defense.

"The railroads are entirely under the direction of the federal administration railway in Washington. The bankers do not need a representative on the board. But in any event, the question of food production should be given prime consideration, and there should be a number of farmers of practical experience on the board representing the various lines of production, such as grain production, dairy production, etc. Another thing, the milling industry should be represented on the council of defense. With the great amount of wheat the farmers are raising at this time it will be necessary to establish milling centers, especially where our water powers are located, in order to save the transportation expense of flour made from wheat brought from long distances.

It is so with the co-operative packing houses in the state. They can be made immensely useful to the people of the state in these war times. They can be made immensely valuable in the distribution of food products in the great industrial centers of the state. No one can do this work so well as the practical farmers who themselves are engaged in the production of these food stuffs. It is so with the laboring men of the state. They provide the market largely for the products of the farm. The conservation of these products must come from the two great arms of industry, farmers and the working man. For that reason the council of defense should be reorganized, giving these great arms of industry adequate representation."

BRITISH TANKER TORPEDOED BY SUBMARINE

Believed 9 Members of Crew Drowned Off Cape Hatteras

BEAUFORT, N. C.—The British tank steamship Mirlo was torpedoed by a German submarine off Cape Hatteras last night and according to reports reaching here today nine members of her crew were drowned.

All the other members of the crew were saved by coast guards. They said the torpedo struck the vessel amidships and that soon afterward the cargo of gasoline exploded, setting fire to the ship and compelling them to jump for their lives.

According to the survivors, the submarine when last seen was laying just off Hatteras, apparently intending to wait for other victims

SCHMEDEMAN GLAD TO BE BACK HOME

Minister to Norway Declines to Talk on War Topics

"It seems good to get back to Madison. It is such a beautiful city."

This was the statement of A. S. Schmedeman, United States minister to Norway, as he alighted from his car in front of the Baillie-Hollquist store, of which he was formerly the senior proprietor.

"Been gone five years and hasn't changed a bit," said Mayor George C. Sayle as he shook hands with him. Within a few minutes a number of business men had gathered on the street to greet the former Madison man.

"George, things have improved greatly in Madison since I left," continued Mr. Schmedeman in conversation with Mayor Sayle. "The state capitol has been finished and it is a beauty. I intend to go out around the city today and get a retouch of Madison's beauty."

Minister Schmedeman declined to talk on war topics. He said he left Norway on July 28 and landed in New York on Aug. 12. He intends to spend several weeks in Madison. He ultimately intends to return to Madison and make this city his home, but will remain at his post at least during the war. Mrs. Schmedeman met her husband at Chicago Friday and accompanied him home.
